CANTON IN BALANCE

KWANGSI ARMIES NOW CLOSING IN OCCUPATION ON THURSDAY?

Kwangtung Navy Bombards Kwangsi Positions

BIGGER EXODUS TO HONG KONG

Reports of the fighting between the Kwangtung and Kwangsi forces are still more or less of a conflicting nature. Reliable news received in the Colony to-day point to the occupation of Canton by the Kwangsi armies on Thursday.

The Kwangtung Navy has been in action against the Kwangsi forces.

Reports from the various fronts are appended.

CANTON HEARS SOUND OF BATTLE

A private telegram from Shanghai received here yesterday stated that the Nanking Government has commandeered 14 merchantmen for the transportation of troops to Kwangtung for the purpose of reinforcing the Cantonese forces against Kwangsi.

The troops assigned to this expedition are probably those of General Hung Sek-wei's division. They have been on their way since Saturday and are expected to arrive at Swatow or Canton shortly, if they have not already done so.

West River
Canton, Yesterday.
Earlier reports to hand state that some Kwangsi troops have captured Fatsan, on the West River, but these are not yet confirmed.

Severe fighting is still in progress in the vicinity of Sainam, near Hohow.

Reports have also been received in Canton from the West River front indicating that Kwangsi forces are again engaging the Cantonese in the vicinity of Sainam, a town in the Samshui District. The sudden suspension of traffic on the Canton-Samshui railway indicates that trouble is occurring there.

Confirmation?
Canton, To-day.
Reports coming to Canton have it that Fatsan, a town along the West River, has fallen into the hands of the Kwangsi troops.

Naval Bombardment
Fierce fighting occurred yesterday simultaneously at Sainam, in Samshui, and Lupo, along the West River. Admiral Chan Chak, of the Canton Navy, led some ships, including the "Chung Shan," to bombard the Kwangsi defence lines at Maifong, Hokuo, and Samshui City. The Kwangsi troops replied with heavy guns, but they had finally to evacuate Samshui city, Hohow, and even Lupo. The Cantonese troops under General Han Han-ping were still controlling the road to Canton yesterday.

Samshui Again Falls
The Kwangsi troops appear to have again captured Samshui at one o'clock this morning, the Cantonese withdrawing to Suitong.

The inhabitants of Canton are much alarmed. Last night Hong Kong-bound steamers from Canton were fully loaded with refugees, including families of prominent Canton officials.

Another report states that the Kwangsi forces have reached Sze-Tze-Tso, a station on the Canton-Samshui Railroad. Shangpak and Sitong, near Canton, are seriously threatened.

Attacking Arsenal
Kwangsi forces, under General Wong Ying-yu and Lu Fang-yan, are attacking Shekhang arsenal, the sound of fighting being heard in Canton.—Nan Chung Kuo News Service.

General Fan's Troops
Wuchow, Yesterday.
The Nanking controlled troops under General Fan Shek-shang who have occupied Pinglo, Kwangsi, since May 13, have made no attempt to interfere with the local government there.—Nan Chung Kuo News Service.

East River
Canton, Yesterday.
Pending the outcome of the military operations in the North River Sector, the Cantonese forces under Generals Tsai Ting-kai and Chiang Kwang-nai, on the East River front have made no further advance since their occupation of Daichow, according to reports from that source.

Probable Defection
Canton, To-day.
It is understood that General Yung (Wen) Ying-kui's forces in the East River districts have repulsed the invading troops from Fukien under General Chang Ching.

An unconfirmed report says that General Chang may join the anti-Chiang Kai-shek movement.

Northern Front
Canton, Yesterday.
Canton City is now rather alarmed, on hearing that the Kwangsi forces, operating along the North River, are making considerable headway towards the southern capital. According to the latest report to hand, Kwangsi vanguards are near Kwantun, a station on the Canton-Hankow Line, Kwangtung Section, about fifty miles from Canton.

Kwantin is a strategic point and, if it falls into the hands of the Kwangsi troops, the Cantonese Army on the North River front would have to fight very hard to resist the invasion.

The Canton authorities are having some difficulty in despatching sufficient troops to meet the enemies both on the northern and western fronts.

General Pei Arrives
Canton, To-day.
General Pei Chung-hsi, one of the Kwangsi "big four," is now in Kwantin, a strategic point on the North River, to direct operations.

A Sudden Change
Canton, Yesterday.
The situation in the North River districts is again undergoing a sudden change, according to the latest report from the North River front to the Kwangtung Army Headquarters.

The Kwangsi troops have been forced to evacuate Tsingyun, upon the arrival of reinforcements from Canton yesterday.

The reinforcements consisted of a regiment under Colonel Tai Chien. Exoduses to Hong Kong.

General Chen Tsai-long's family left Canton for Hong Kong, together with other high officials' families, by the s.s. "Sai On" on Sunday afternoon.—Nan Chung Kuo News Service.

WUCHOW THE GOAL
Swift March by the Hunan Troops
Shanghai, Yesterday.
A message from Changsha says the Hunan troops under Ho Chien are not pursuing the Kwangsi forces, but are attempting to march swiftly southwards with the object of capturing Wuchow, where the rebel headquarters are established, and thereby effecting a junction with the Kwangtung forces.—Reuter.

CLASH IN NORTH NOT IMMEDIATE?

FENG AND CHIANG

"CHRISTIAN GENERAL" RELIES ON CHIANG'S DIFFICULTIES
RAILWAYS BLOCKED

Shanghai, To-day.
The latest military movement on the part of Marshal Feng Yuxiang's Kuomintang forces does not indicate that he will clash with the Nanking troops at the moment.

Marshal Feng's forces, stationed at Tungwan, are estimated at about 100,000 men with a view to marching into Shansi at any moment.

Meanwhile no fear is entertained by Marshal Feng that Marshal Chiang Kai-shek will march his troops into his territory without encountering serious difficulty, as both the Peking-Hankow and the Lunghai Railways have been blocked by the blowing up of a series of iron bridges on these two lines.—Nan Chung Kuo News Service.

HEADQUARTERS AT PENGPU
Anhui Troops Supporting Chiang
Shanghai, Yesterday.
A message from Anking to the Kuo Min news agency states that General Fong Chen-wu, went to Nanking yesterday evening in response to a summons from Marshal Chiang Kai-shek.

A large force of Anhui troops has been transferred to Pengpu, and it is stated that after conferring with Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, General Fong Chen-wu will go to Pengpu to establish his military headquarters there.—Reuter.

General Yen Doubtful
Shanghai, Sunday.
The Shansi political leader, General Yen Hsi-shan's attitude toward the breach between Marshals Feng Yu-hsiang and Chiang Kai-shek is still doubtful. Aside from sending six divisions of Shansi troops to South Shansi for defensive purposes, he has made no warlike preparations against either side.—Nan Chung Kuo News Service.

Pretended Resignation
Nanking, Sunday.
It is stated that General Chiang will pretend to tender his resignation from the chairmanship of State Council in order that the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang may again exercise its power over present affairs.—Nan Chung Kuo News Service.

"LOST HIS SHIRT"
AMUSING ASIDE IN GAMBLING CASE
MAGISTRATE'S HUMOUR
The Police yesterday raided the third floor of No. 208, Hollywood-road and arrested 24 Chinese for gambling on the premises. This morning 20 of them appeared before Mr. N. L. Smith, who ordered bail of $5 each for furnished by the absent four to be arrested.

Of those in Court, two were charged with keeping a gaming house, whilst the others were charged with taking part in games of pai-kau.

Whilst the accused were being lined up before the bench, his Worship noticed that one of the men was naked from the waist upward, and remarked laughingly: "That man has lost his shirt, I see!"

All the accused pleaded "guilty" to the charges against them. The two keepers were fined $50 or 14 days' jail each, whilst the others were fined $2 each, or five days' imprisonment.

TO-DAY'S MEETING
The Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders of Hong Kong will hold an extraordinary general meeting, this evening at 5.45 o'clock.

WATER SAFEGUARDS
MAINS SUPPLIES NOT FOR FLUSHING
OFFICIAL STATEMENT
In reference to enquiries made regarding the utilisation of nullah water for flushing purposes we are officially informed that the Sanitary Board does not recommend to Government for approval the installation of water closets unless applicants can prove to the satisfaction of the Board that an independent and adequate water supply is obtainable. In the City of Victoria and in Kowloon the water for these purposes is obtained from wells and is pumped to tanks placed on the roof of the buildings concerned.

The Colony's water supply is not allowed to be used for flushing purposes. Only a few isolated exceptions to this rule have been permitted in cases of hospitals and public buildings; also those houses on the Peak supply where it is not possible to obtain water by any other means, for which an additional charge is made.

Houses on the intermediate levels where the flush system is installed obtain their supply from nullahs.

On the Northern side of the Island there are 64 nullahs from which water is obtained, through 150 intake connections, to supply houses or blocks of houses where water closet installations exist, and in some cases the water is utilised for swimming pools returning again into the nullah to be later used for flushing purposes.

On the Southern side of the Island there are 64 nullahs with intake connections utilised for similar purposes.

The gaugings of these nullahs are carefully taken before additional intakes are permitted, as in time of drought their capacity is severely taxed.

Water for the usual cleansing of Chinese tenement houses is obtained from nullahs and from a well at the Western Market, except in the Eastern District, where not more than 2,500 gallons a week are used.

Sea water and water from nullahs is used for side channel flushing and none is drawn from the mains for this purpose.

WILLS & PROBATES

C.M.S. IN THE EAST TO BENEFIT

MR. MACKENZIE'S ESTATE
Several wills and probates have been dealt with by the Supreme Court recently, one of which concerned the estate of Mr. Chas. Norman Ross Mackenzie, clerk in Holy Orders.

Mr. Mackenzie died on June 15, 1928, at Wellington, New Zealand. He left property in Hong Kong amounting to $15,400. Re-sealing of the probate of his will is granted to Mr. C. D. Melbourne, Official Administrator and Registrar, who is acting for the executor—the Public Trustee of New Zealand.

The deceased, after making several family bequests, leaves his residuary estate upon trust for the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East to be used for the general purposes of the Society.

Miss Mariam Dods
Re-sealing of the probate of the will of Miss Mariam Dods has been granted to the Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, of Messrs. Deacons, who is the attorney for the executor, Mr. Wm. Dods, brother of the deceased lady.

Miss Dods formerly resided at No. 1 Comiston Drive, Edinburgh, Scotland. She died in North Berwick on September 10, 1928. Her estate in the Colony is valued at $21,000 and net personality in England and Scotland to the amount of $3,186 12s. 9d.

A Chinese Merchant's Estate
Estate in the Colony amounting to $24,900 was left by a Chinese merchant of Honam, Ho Ping-woon, alias Ho King-man who died on September 5, 1928, at his residence in Canton.

Deceased died intestate and letters of administration have now been granted to Ho Sui-wing, of No. 1 Lan Kwai Fong, Hong Kong.

A TOOTER CAUGHT
NUISANCE IN THE EARLY HOURS IN CITY
A NOMINAL FINE
Mr. P. P. J. Wodehouse, C.I.E., Deputy Superintendent of Police, summoned a Chinese motor car driver before Mr. N. L. Smith, at the Central Magistracy, this morning for causing a nuisance by unnecessarily tooting on his horn.

Mr. Wodehouse said that the offence occurred at 2 a.m. on Saturday in Des Voeux-road, the accused continuously sounding his horn from the Hong Kong Bank to Lane, Crawford's, although the road was clear at the time, and no pedestrians were there. There were other cars tooting as well, but the accused's number was the only one which witness could secure.

Mr. Smith imposed a fine of $5.

JUMP FROM FERRY
WOULD-BE SUICIDE RESCUED IN TIME
A PLUCKY ACT
A Chinese married woman named Chow Hang (38), of No. 7, Sing Shing-street, yesterday, attempted to commit suicide by jumping into the harbour from the Yau-mat ferry wharf.

With commendable pluck, Kong Ping-fong (cook) and Kwok Man-shing (seaman) both of the ferry launch "Man Ying", promptly went to the rescue. They managed to keep her afloat, until all three were pulled into the launch. The woman, who suffered from the effects of her immersion, also sustained an injured foot, which struck one of the fenders of the wharf during her fall into the water. She is now in the Government Civil Hospital.

DUTCH PLANES
MACHINE TOTALLY LOST AT BATAVIA
FUEL RESERVOIR EXPLOSION
Batavia, Yesterday.
The D23, another one of the Dutch seaplanes which flew from Holland, was totally destroyed by a fire which broke out owing to a short circuit exploding the fuel reservoir.

Two natives were badly burned and one European less seriously.—Reuter.

[This is the second serious accident which has befallen the three Dutch machines since they left Holland recently.]

TREASURY CASE
LEGAL ARGUMENT PROBABLY ON LIST TO-MORROW
The "China Mail" understands that the Chief Justice, Sir Henry Gollan, will probably sit to-morrow in the Supreme Court to hear legal arguments by Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., and Mr. F. C. Jenkin in the Treasury v. the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank case.

GIRLS' ALLIED MURDER

PRISONER MOBBED

MENTAL CONDITIONS UNDER OBSERVATION
SAMPAN AS EXHIBIT
Criminal Sessions for May commenced this morning at the Supreme Court. There are only two cases on the calendar and both were fixed for hearing by the Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice J. R. Wood.

The Court room was thronged with boat people this morning. They had apparently given up a day's labour in order to catch a glimpse of the man who is alleged to have murdered two sampan girls on March 19.

The prisoner, Chau Kau, was placed in the dock at a few minutes to ten o'clock. Every old woman and young damsel, and weather-beaten old salts and youngsters alike looked at the youthful prisoner menacingly.

His Lordship came on the Bench and silence reigned. And those who had gone to the Court specially to listen to the trial of Chau Kau were disappointed.

Mr. Leo d'Almada, jun., who appeared for the prisoner, told his Lordship that the latter was at the moment under medical observation by Dr. A. Cannon and that it would require a month at the very least to give a report of his mental conditions. There was also the task of tracing his history and antecedent and, as that could only be got in Kwangsi, it would therefore take some time in view of the present troublous conditions up there. Counsel therefore asked the case to stand over until the June Sessions.

Unrehearsed Programmes
Mr. H. Somerset Fitzroy, Assistant Crown Attorney, then tendered to his Lordship a letter from Dr. Cannon, and, after reading it, the case was accordingly adjourned for a month.

An unrehearsed item in the programme was enacted just as the prisoner was being led out of Court. The crowd got to the doorway before him, and the moment they saw him they cursed vociferously and made an attempt to mob him. Two constables, however, kept the angry crowd back and the prisoner was hustled into the waiting "black maria" and driven off to the jail.

The prisoner, it will be remembered, was an assistant in a junk. On the day in question, he was sent ashore in a small sampan to take back the two daughters and son of his master to the junk. After the trio had boarded the dinghy, prisoner is alleged to have rowed them to a direction different from where the junk was anchored. He then attacked the two girls with a weapon, and having killed them, he threw the body of one of them overboard. The son of the junk-master, who is only 14 years of age, was also thrown overboard and when he made an attempt to clamber on board again, prisoner was said to have hit him with a chopper. One girl's body was subsequently found floating in the harbour, and the other was recovered from the dinghy off Green Island.

The sampan was brought into Court as an exhibit.

The Other Case
The other case, which will be heard to-morrow morning, concerns Lan Chuan, who is indicted on charges of armed robbery, wrongful possession, and forcible detention of certain persons.

CYCLISTS MISHAP
RUSSIAN SHOT OVER THE HANDLE BAR
NOW IN HOSPITAL
A Russian named Michael Piankoff, living at No. 120, Whitfield, was the victim of a painful accident whilst cycling down Chaiwan Hill yesterday.

Coming to a particularly steep part of the hill, the cycle threatened to run away with the rider, and in his panic Piankoff applied his brakes hard. The result was that both wheels were instantly locked, and naturally the back part of the machine shot in the air, throwing the rider.

Piankoff shot over the handle bar and fell heavily on his face on the road, sustaining injury to his forehead and face.

He was later taken to the Government Civil Hospital.

PEACE WORK

BORAH GETS RECOGNITION
FROM "MOSCOW"

FOUNDATION ESTABLISHED

Moscow, Ida, May 14.

The efforts of William E. Borah, senator from Idaho, to foster international peace have been recognized by the establishment of a foundation bearing his name, through which the University of Idaho will seek to promulgate the idea of world concord.

Dr. Frederick J. Kelly, President of the University, announced that Salmon O. Levinson of Chicago, chairman of the American Committee on the outlawry of war, had given $55,000 to create the "William Edgar Borah Outlawry of War Foundation" at the institution.

The foundation is given, Dr. Kelly said, "in honour of the almost priceless contribution of Idaho's senior Senator, who is now the chairman of the important Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, to the cause of world peace."

Mr. Levinson, Kelly continued, "is recognized internationally as originator of the plan for the outlawry of war which Senator Borah has championed so vigorously in the United States Senate for years, and which forms the basis of the recently ratified Kellogg peace pact."

In accepting the foundation, the President said that the income from it would be used "to establish in the University of Idaho a lectureship for the promotion of a better understanding of international relations, of the age old struggle with the baffling problems of war, and of the vital part played in its solution by Senator Borah."

However, $5,000 will be used for a portrait or bust of Borah, to be placed in the University. Mr. Levinson stipulated that the image be placed "in the room in the University of Idaho most intimately associated with the William Edgar Borah foundation."

Fund Perpetual

While the fund is to be perpetual, Dr. Kelly said, Mr. Levinson provided that if after ten years the university decides that the "outlawry of war has been such an accomplished fact that this precise subject needs no further educational exploitation" the proceeds from the fund are to be used in furthering "the great contribution of William Edgar Borah to the cause of world peace and democracy."

Senator Borah's plan for abolishing war was embodied in a Senate resolution introduced in February, 1928. It was based on the idea that international peace proposals would be strengthened "if war itself were declared a punishable crime in international law."

The resolution advocated three means by which this end could be accomplished, (1) adoption of a universal treaty making war a public crime under the law of nations; (2) adoption of a code of international law of peace based upon equality and justice among nations, amplified and brought up to date; (3) establishment of a judicial substitute for war in the form of an international court, modelled after the federal supreme court, this court to decide all purely international controversies as the supreme court has jurisdiction over controversies between the States.

In addition to his work in the Senate advocating adherence to the world court as a means to prevent war, Senator Borah toured the United States lecturing for the cause of world peace.

The foundation will be endowed at once, Dr. Kelly said, but the actual date it will become operative has not been determined.—Associated Press.

DEMURRAGE

CHARTER PARTY
CLAUSES
JUDGE ON AMBIGUITY

The need of clarity in charter-party stipulations and the likelihood that adverse inference would be drawn from its absence was the point emphasised in, and indeed the basis of, Mr. Justice Branson's decision of the special case submitted to him in the King's Bench Division, in the action Sir R. Ropner and Co., Ltd., against W. S. Partridge and Co., on a problem arising out of the common form of the Welsh Coal Charter.

The shipowners chartered a number of vessels to the charterers to bring coal from America during the coal strike of 1926, and they said the charter-party provided that if the loading time was exceeded, demurrage was to be paid on a calculation which began 48 hours after the notice of ship's readiness, or such earlier time as loading began, but that the period for calculating, on the other hand, despatch began to

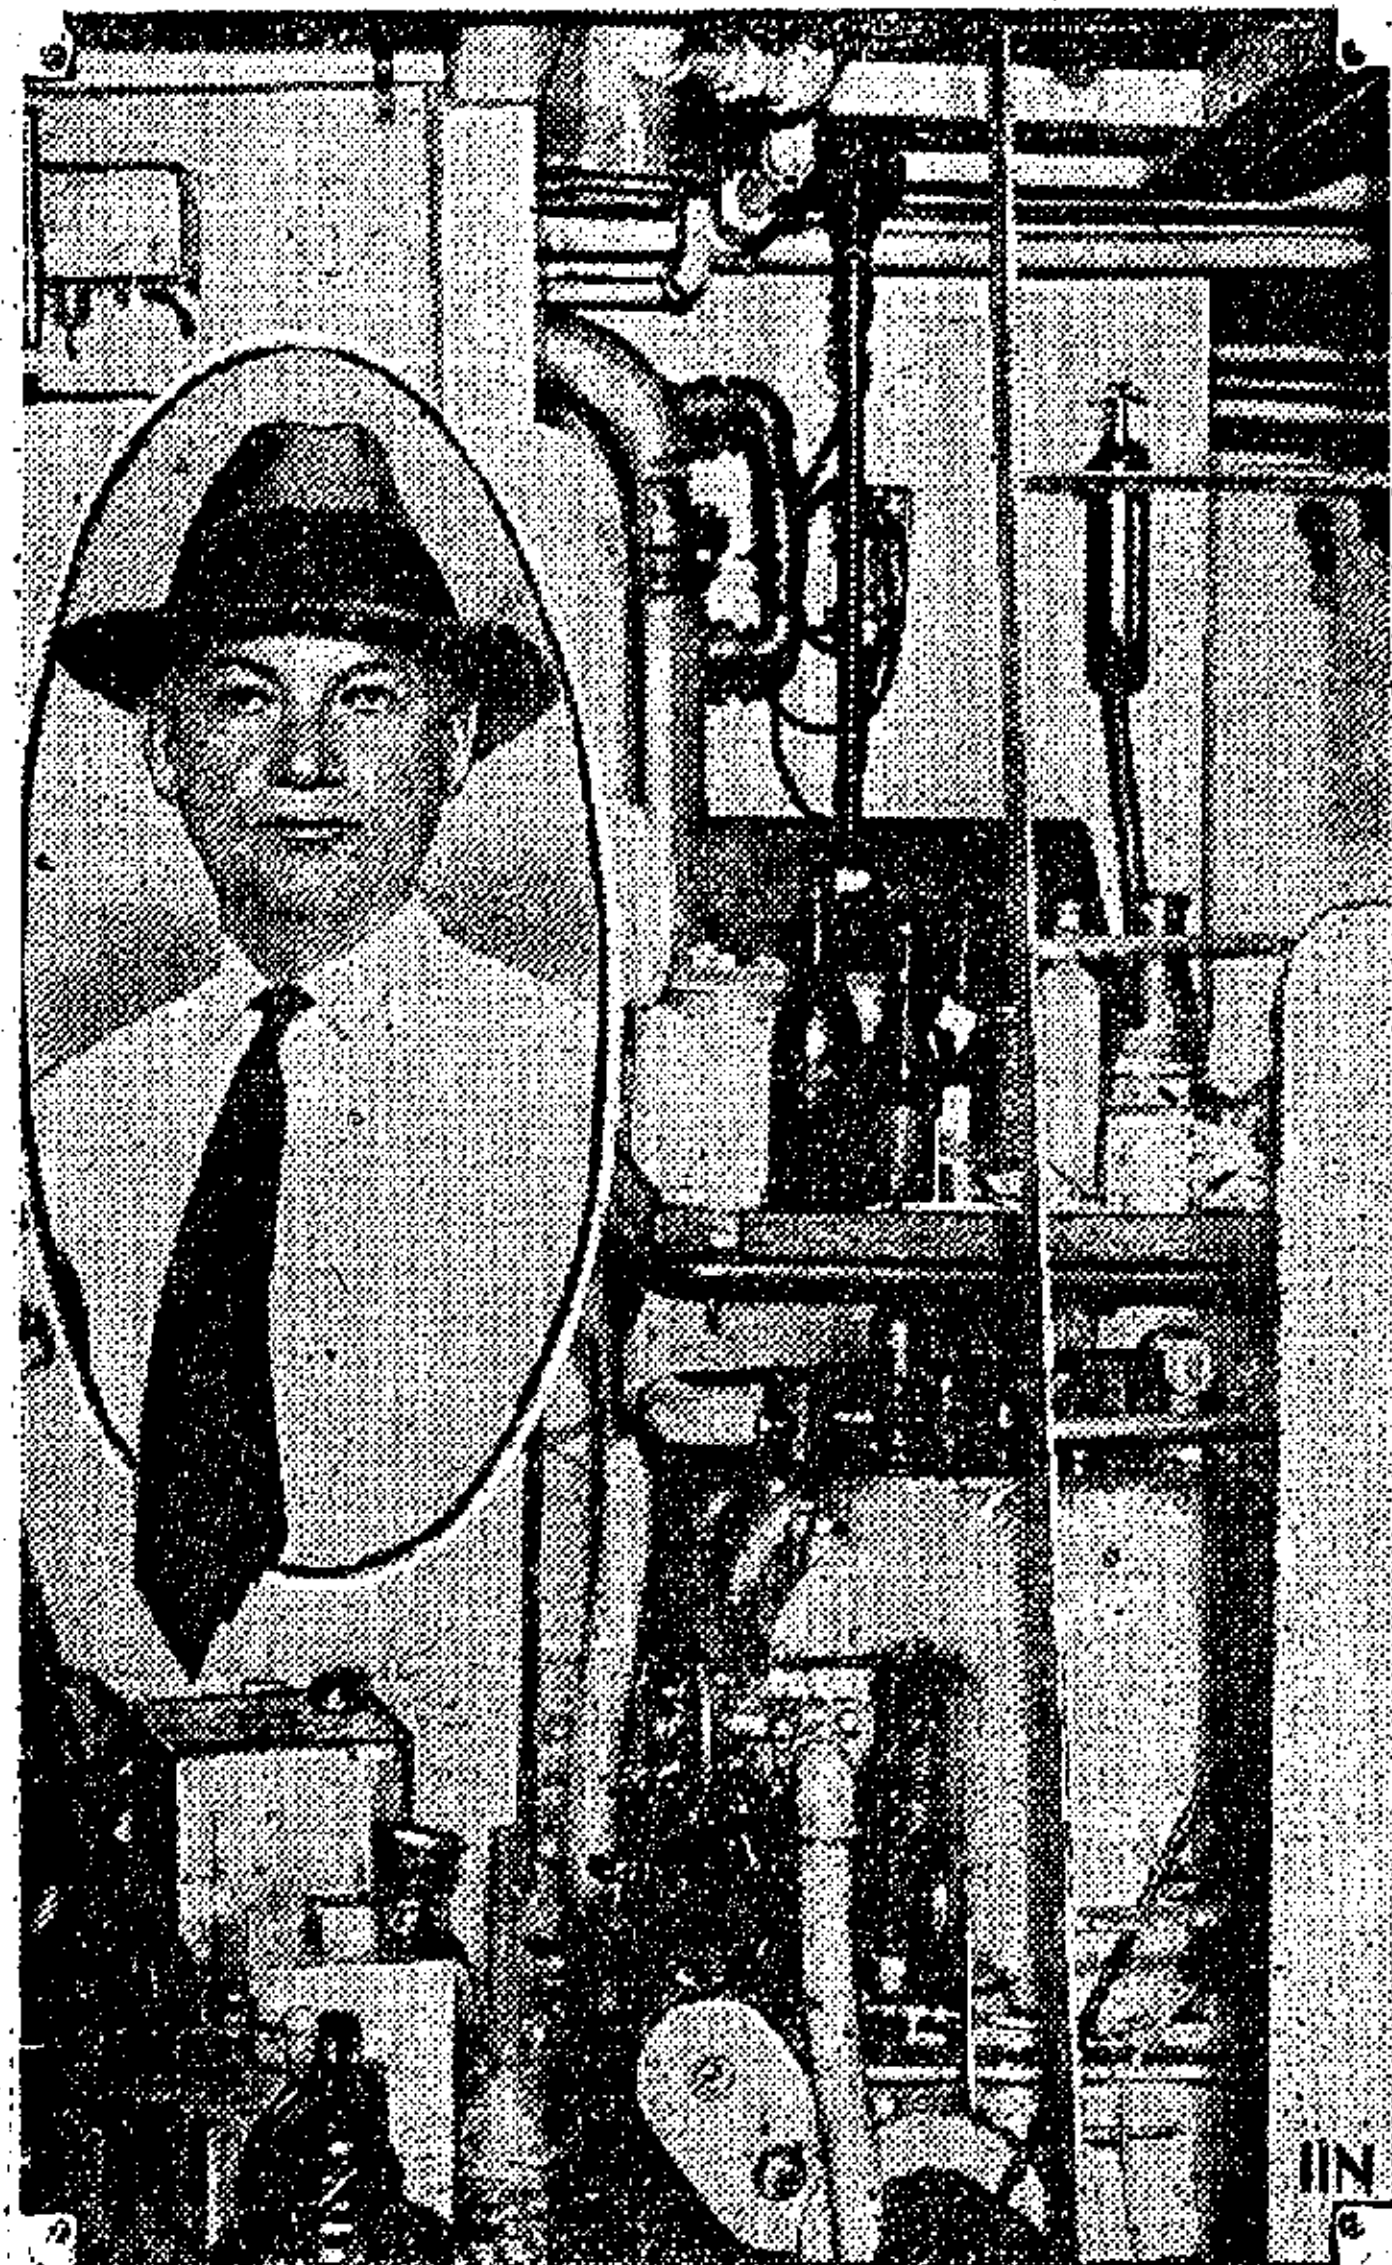

"Despatch in loading (if any) at the rate of three cents per net register ton per running day or pro rata for part thereof. No despatch to be paid on the 48-hours free time."

Emphasis was laid on the words at the end of the first paragraph, "less commenced earlier."

The arbitrator found for the charterers, who said money was due to them on their interpretation. The shipowners' construction of the charter-party clause would have put the shipowners in funds. The charterers contended for the same method of calculation for despatch as for demurrage.

Despatch money on a series of shipments of coal cargoes was the question, and the umpire stated the special case under Section 7 of the Arbitration Act of 1889. The shipowners were Sir R. Ropner and Co., Ltd., of West Hartlepool, and the charterers were a London firm.

Counsel appearing for the charterers were Mr. J. Rowlett, for the shipowners, instructed by Messrs. Botterell, Roche and Temperley, West Hartlepool (London agents Messrs. Botterell and Roche), and for the charterers Mr. J. G. Trapnell, instructed by Messrs. Holman, Fenwick and Willan.

Leland H. Ross (inset), owner of the New York Yacht Club schooner "Nomad," found drifting off Cape May, N.J., was one of the four men found helpless aboard the battered vessel after a bitter battle with a stormy sea in which the captain, John Schofield, was lost overboard. They set out from Charleston, N.C., bound to New York, but ran into nine days of continuous storm, which crippled them, when the engines (shown above) failed them. Thoroughly exhausted from their battle for their lives, they drifted for six more days before being found by Coast Guards and being brought to Philadelphia.

count from the identical moment that loading began. The answer of the charterers was that the charter-party did not say that lay-time was to run from the moment of notice of readiness to load, but said something else. It all turned on the true construction of a clause which appeared in a number of charter-parties of the Chamber of Shipping Welsh Coal Charter, 1896.

As Umpire

After an arbitration the dispute was referred to Sir Robert Aske, who acted as umpire. The clause on which the controversy arose was contained in paragraph 3, and read as follows:—

"The cargo to be loaded at the average rate of 1,600 tons per day, commencing 48 hours after written notice is given of vessel being completely discharged of inward cargo and ballast in all her holds and ready to load, whether in berth or not, such notice to be given between the business hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., or 1 p.m., on Saturdays, unless commenced earlier. Saturdays, unless commenced earlier.

"If detained longer charterers shall pay demurrage at the following rates:—Ten cents per net register ton per running day or pro rata for part thereof.

HONG KONG TIDE.

The tide-table given below has been obtained by aid of the Tide-predicting Machine, which includes 40 corrections for the better prediction of tides, from the result of the analysis of the tidal observations, taken at the Kaulung tidal observatory under the direction of Dr. Dobereck during the years 1887, 1888 and 1889.

The times and heights are given for Kaulung; but they may be used for the Victoria Naval Yard and Aberdeen, the differences being very small.

The times of high and low-water must not be considered to coincide with the times of slack-water and change of current, the two phenomena being quite distinct.

same calculation must be adopted for each case.

If it had been intended to distinguish between the case of demurrage and that of despatch more clear language would have been expected. It would have been quite simple to say that as regarded despatch the lay-days were to run from the time of giving the notice. The award must therefore be confirmed.

The charterers were given judgment and their costs.

FOR CANADA

MORE LARGE PARTIES OF FARM-
WORKERS ON C.P. LINES

Over 270 young men will shortly be leaving for Canada on Canadian Pacific liners to take up assured farm work. For the past few weeks they have been in training at one of the several Ministry of Labour Farm Training Centres which are established in different parts of the country for the purpose of preparing young men for farm work in the British Dominion. On reaching Canada they will be sent to Winnipeg and other centres, and placed from there in positions of farm work, where they will be given full board and lodging and paid the current wages.

The first two parties left recently. One party sailed on the "Medina" from Glasgow. The other sailed in the "Montrose," from Liverpool, and consisted of 80 men; 17 will join the liner when she calls at Cardiff. The third and largest party of 112 men will sail from Liverpool, on the "Duchess of Richmond."

DOYEN OF STEAM YACHTS

To be wrecked, re-floated, repaired and re-commissioned has been the recent history of a "Thornycroft steam yacht built 33 years ago for service on Lake Geneva.

She was built for a wealthy German owner and sent overland in sections, where she, for many years, attracted great attention by her graceful lines and high speed.

About a year ago she was purchased by a wealthy Oriental nobleman, but not very long afterwards broke adrift from her moorings during one of the storms which rage furiously on the Swiss lakes from time to time; was driven on to the rocks, where she lay badly holed and waterlogged.

Recently, Lloyd's representative, in collaboration with a local firm, succeeded in salvaging the vessel, which has again resumed her Lake cruises.

The "Serviliana," as the yacht was originally christened, must surely be the oldest private steam yacht in the world, and must be regarded as a wonderful tribute to John I. Thornycroft & Co., Ltd., who were responsible for her design and construction in 1896.

On the clause in the charter-parties which was in dispute, it was perfectly clear that the lay-days began for the purpose of calculating demurrage either 48 hours after written notice was given of the vessel being completely discharged, or at such earlier time after notice had been given as the loading of the vessel actually commenced. The Arbitrator found in favour of the contention of the charterers, and the point for him, (the judge) to decide was whether he was right in so finding, or whether the contention of the owners was preferable. Whichever view one took he thought it was not easy to give the full meaning to all the words of these clauses.

But, upon the whole, he came to the conclusion that the Arbitrator was right. His view was supported by this: That one did not have to apply a different calculation to lay-days for the purposes of demurrage, and to lay-days for the purposes of despatch. He was impressed with the fact that if one were to adopt the contention of the owners, it was very difficult indeed, in fact it was impossible, to read those two clauses together without reading in the 48 hours when one was dealing with demurrage, and leaving them out when one was dealing with despatch. On the whole, he had come to the conclusion that the award of the Arbitrator was right and must be upheld. The shipowners contended that when calculating demurrage the charterers must have the advantage of 48 hours after notice, but that when calculating despatch the time must run from the giving of notice. The charterers contended that the

A GREAT VICTORIAN

The news has just come to hand of the death of the Earl of Rosebery. He was 82 years old and was the last of the great Victorian statesmen. For many years he was a colleague of Mr. Gladstone—the "Grand Old Man" of Victorian politics—whom he succeeded in 1894 as leader of the Liberal Party. He was a Scottish nobleman, an aristocrat to his finger-tips, and much more of an "Imperialist" than a "Liberal," though included in the category of "Liberal-Imperialists" with Asquith, Grey, and other stalwarts of the Gladstonian camp. Rosebery's life-long regret was that by the accident of birth he was never able to take part in the proceedings of the House of Commons. In his time to be Liberal Prime Minister in the House of Lords was doubtless a great honour, but from a leader's point of view it was not an enviable position. He became more than ever a lonely figure in politics, and soon withdrew even from his most loyal colleagues to plough his "lonely furrow." Rosebery will never be remembered as a great statesman, as he never was such. He was too vacillating, uncertain, too independent, too aristocratic—at least to lead the Liberal Party. As head of the Conservatives he might have been much more in his element. But the glamour of the "Grand Old Man" seemed always to be upon him, and, though with the Liberals, he never was of them. His father was a Peer, his mother a Duchess and early in life he himself succeeded to a peerage.

In many respects he was "Dame Fortune's" favourite, as his chief ambitions were fulfilled. He became Prime Minister and he won the Derby, and besides these two enviable distinctions, he, though a very wealthy man, married the richest heiress of his time, Hannah Rothschild. Primarily he was a littérateur of a very high rank and an orator of outstanding ability, hardly worthy to be ranked with Gladstone or Bright, but superior to many of the other recognised orators of his day—Joseph Chamberlain, Asquith, Harcourt or Grey. Lord Haldane, in his recent memoirs, ranks Rosebery as among the most outstanding men of his time. What he lost in political prestige he amply made up for in literary distinction and oratorical pre-eminence. Before (and even after, to a lesser extent) he had settled down to his "lonely furrow"—(his own expression of his political collapse)—he was in constant demand as a public speaker, and Rosebery never failed to grace even the most prosaic occasion by his remarkable ability as a popular orator.

As a writer he was highly valued by those most competent to judge of the quality of his literary criticism, and for many years his volumes on "Pitt," "Appreciations and Addresses," "Sir Robert Peel," "Napoleon—the Last Phase," "Oliver Cromwell," "Lord Randolph Churchill," "Chatham—His Early Life and Connections," "Miscellanies, Literary and Historical" will be long held in high esteem. He was Prime Minister and Lord President of Council in 1894-95, and at various periods Lord Rector of Edinburgh, Glasgow, and Aberdeen Universities. For years he was Chairman of the London County Council, and did excellent work for that body. He had been Lord-Lieutenant of Linlithgow and also of Midlothian, and was a well-known figure in Edinburgh, near which is one of his best known estates, Dalmeny. His ancestral acres include 7,000 in Linlithgowshire, 18,500 in Midlothian, 5,500 in Buckinghamshire, 2,000 in Norfolk, 500 in Kent, 170 in Kent and 3 in Suffolk. In consequence, he was easily one of the largest land-proprietors of the country. As a politician Rosebery's life was a tragedy, but as a writer of critical acumen and outstanding ability he was nearly as great as he was an orator of pre-eminence.

His heir is his eldest son, Lord Dalmeny, who has never aspired either to politics or literature. He is well known as a Surrey cricketer. Lord Rosebery's second son, the Hon. Neil Primrose, gave great promise of political distinction and, while quite young, was Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs. But he, like many other young men forging ahead in the realms of politics and literature, was a victim of the War.

A man is what his prayers, make of him, and we are praying every day and hour, whether we know it or not. When we cease to pray we cease to live. We are sending out our desires continually, and the universe is so made that it answers back along the line of our demand. This is a spiritual law. I mean that the universe, visible and invisible, to which man stands related is acting upon him ceaselessly, in response to the force of the demand he makes upon it. — The Daily Express (London).

Three cases of small-pox were notified yesterday, and one case of cerebro-spinal fever.

The Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow left for Shanghai by the s.s. "President McKinley" to-day.

For the theft of two zinc slabs from the Kowloon Docks, a Chinese employee was fined $7 or 10 days' hard labour at the Kowloon Magistracy.

The Navy League (Hong Kong Branch) advertise that the film "Keep Watch" will be shown at the Queen's Theatre on Empire Day (May 24) at 5 p.m.

Two Chinese were each fined $5 at the Kowloon Magistracy for trespassing at the Hankow Barracks, Shamshuipo, where the Somerset Light Infantry is stationed.

For throwing a small piece of stone at the military picket at Temple Street, Yau-mati, a Chinese, who was described as a coolie in the employment of the Hong Kong Club, was fined $5 at the Kowloon Magistracy.

At the Kowloon Court Det. Inspector Fallon applied for an order for the confiscation of two revolvers and eight rounds of ammunition which were found hidden in some sand behind No. 41, Yuen Chau-street, Shamshuipo. The application was granted.

Eight Chinese were charged at the Kowloon Magistracy as a result of the attempt now being made by the Railway authorities to prevent people crossing the railway lines. In discharging the men, the Magistrate (Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith) remarked that as it was the first case of its kind, he thought that a caution would be sufficient.

Wong Chiu-kuong, office boy of the Hon. Sir Henry Pollock, K.C., made a report to the Police last evening that some time between 2.30 and 5.30 p.m., yesterday a table fan worth $20 was stolen from Sir Henry's chambers in Prince's Building. The thief made a hole in the ceiling and hauled the fan up through the opening.

Alleged to have been concerned in the shooting of a Sanitary Board coolie at No. 3 Railway Bridge, a Chinese was brought up at the Kowloon Magistracy for formal remand. It was stated that he and another man held up the coolie with the intention of robbing him, and in the struggle which ensued, a shot was fired, and the coolie was injured. The case was remanded until to-morrow.

RIVER STEAMERS

[To the Editor of the "China Mail."]

Sir,—Your excellent article on the conditions of West River Shipping published on the 18th inst., under the heading "Still Waters," gives a fair account of what a "down and outer" is to expect from this Colony.

This is a British port, and the numerous vessels of different nationalities visiting here regularly make it an important shipping base. One would therefore expect that a poor and homeless mariner would have no difficulty in getting a job on any of the vessels touching this port.

We have here the Harbour Office, the Marine Office, the Marine Guild. They are all British and yet a British mariner can starve for all he pleases. What do we care? This is a British Colony and if one Briton had gone to the dogs, plenty more will be coming out and there is the fact that we can always get a foreigner to do our work for us. Why a Briton then?

It is surprising how British mariners are left to starve here of all places, and yet every one

COMEDY COMPANY

"THARK" PLAYED BEFORE A
"WARM" HOUSE

SPLENDID ACTING AGAIN

Last evening the Banvard English Comedy Company repeated their successful production of Ben Travers' farce, "Thark," before a large and appreciative, but, nevertheless, extremely warm audience.

During their last visit the individual members of the cast were eulogised as a result of their splendid acting in "Thark," and last night's performance showed them to be deserving of more praise still, since working under greater difficulties regarding weather they more than upheld the very enviable record of Mr. W. R. Banvard's Companies.

Everyone in the company helped to make the play a great success, and it must be seldom that a Hong Kong audience has been kept in such roars of laughter for so long as they were last evening, whilst the question of the Haunted Room at Thark was being thrashed out.

This evening an entirely new production, "Diversion" will be staged and, in spite of the fact that it will undoubtedly be "passing warm" in the theatre, patrons will be well repaid for a slight discomfort by the excellent entertainment they will be given.

Theatre Royal Season

To-morrow, the company will transfer their activities for three nights to the Theatre Royal where they will present "The Best People," "The Ringer" on Thursday, and the brilliant farce, "A Cuckoo in the Nest," on Friday.

"The Best People" comes from the Lyric Theatre, London, where it ran for over 300 consecutive performances, and was one of the most talked about plays of 1926. It is a thoroughly amusing piece with a witty dialogue and is among the most popular plays in the company's repertoire.

"The Ringer," Edgar Wallace's super-thriller, is the story of the exploits of a lawyer who in private life is a receiver of stolen property. His prosperity might have continued had not his love affair with the "Ringer's" sister brought him to an untimely end. "A Cuckoo in the Nest" is the story of a man's wife, someone else's wife, and a mother-in-law. The play had a tremendous success at the Aldwych Theatre, London and even the most hardened critics acclaimed it as excellent from start to finish.

Each of these pieces was played to capacity audiences at the Star Theatre, and in view of this, and the fact that they are being played for the last time in Hong Kong, full houses should be the rule during the short season which definitely closes on Friday. Seats may be booked in advance at Moutrie's.

UNUSUAL FILM

"THE PORT OF MISSING GIRLS"

TO-DAY AT QUEEN'S

Divers reasons for the strange action of modern youth have been suggested by many people interested in the subject. Noted novelists have written stories of flaming youth and the restless sex. Peculiar conditions arising out of the War have been blamed; then the mode of the modern girls' attire; motor cars and jazz. Freakish solutions have been advanced by scientists and medical men, and enlarged thyroids and the presence of pituitary glands have been solemnly pointed to as the cause of the unrest among the now thoroughly restless sex.

Where do these countless girls go? Do they seek adventure? Tire of school? Resent discipline? Seek "carriers"? Become victims of forbidden love? The subject has become a world-wide problem.

Now comes a well-known motion picture producer, Walter E. Greene, who has made a study of the situation for several years with a view to dramatising the possibilities of this theme. He has produced a sensational photoplay, showing the perils and pitfalls of the modern flapper, without preachment, called "The Port of Missing Girls," which is the attraction at the Queen's Theatre to-day and to-morrow.

seems to forget that our Prince is Admiral Commander of the Mercantile Marine, and that for his sake, if not for anything else, British shipping firms should employ Britons instead of foreigners.

I suppose one should never expect anything in this Colony unless one belongs to the "select crowd." Who says that the Britons are not democratic?

Yours, etc.,

ONE MORE.

The husband of a churchgoer had set out on a sea voyage, and the wife wrote and requested the parson to conduct a prayer for his safety during the service.

What she intended to be read out was this:

"Mr. Sparkes, having gone to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation on his behalf."

Imagine her confusion, however, when on Sunday the parson read: "Mr. Sparkes, having gone to see his wife, desires the prayers of the congregation on his behalf."

The third-class compartment of the express contained two passengers—a dear old lady and a little boy who had got in by himself.

Suddenly the train plunged into a tunnel, the compartment was in darkness, the old lady heard the carriage door open and close, the train emerged, and the small boy was nowhere to be seen!

She jumped to her feet and made for the communication cord, but as she raised her hand she saw a small foot peeping from beneath the seat.

"You little wretch!" she screamed. "You might have sent me in a fit!"

The small boy crawled out and screwed his knuckles in his eyes.

"Yes, mum," he sobbed, in bitter disappointment; "but the old lady I did it to last Monday did have a fit!"

FOR A PET MONKEY

£2,000 LEGACY LEFT BY A LADY

"PEPPY SQUEAKS" LUCK

A pet monkey is the beneficiary of a £2,000 trust fund under the will of its owner, Mrs. Julie Hopwood, mother of Avery Hopwood, playwright.

Avery Hopwood died on July 1, and in his will left the bulk of his estate, estimated £200,000, to his mother.

Peppy Squeak, the simian trust beneficiary, enjoys a distinction in that respect, so far as monkeys are concerned. The oldest attaches of the Surrogates Court say that no monkey has ever figured in a will in New York County, although provisions have been made for horses, dogs, cats and birds.

Mrs. Julia Jones, a friend of Mrs. Hopwood, and her son, J. Allan Jones, who receive life estates in trust funds of £10,000, are charged by the testatrix to care for the monkey out of the trust fund income. The £2,000 trust fund invested at 5 per cent. will produce about £2 a week income for Peppy Squeak.

GEN. PERSHING

PROBABLE SUCCESSOR TO HERRICK?

OTHER CANDIDATES

Washington, May 12. The possibility that General John J. Pershing may become the next Ambassador to France has been injected into the unofficial speculation which always thrives in Washington when an appointment of such importance is pending.

His name has been added mysteriously to the list of distinguished public men already mentioned for the post, which includes such figures as Frank B. Kellogg, until recently Secretary of State; and Henry P. Fletcher, Ambassador at Rome.

The point emphasised in the discussion of General Pershing is that, as a world war hero of both America and France, he occupies a position in the affections of the two peoples similar to that of the late Ambassador Myron T. Herrick.

Furthermore, it is reasoned, that since former Vice-President Davies has accepted the Ambassadorship to Great Britain, selection of another important war figure to go to France would provide the kind of balance for the two appointments which the administration is supposed to desire.

General Pershing has frequently revisited France since he was there as Commander of America's war forces, and he was one of the speakers at the funeral services in Paris for Mr. Herrick. Associated Press.

SPAIN IS "ILL"

DICTATOR ASSERTS HE'S TRYING TO CURE NATION

HIMSELF THE HEALER

Paris, May 12. A dispatch to "Le Figaro," from Madrid recently ascribed to the Spanish dictator, Primo de Rivera, the metaphor of Spain the sick man and himself the physician. The particular reference was to the recent internal strife in that country.

"I have only driven out the bad microbes," the Premier was quoted. "I am now helping Spain on to convalescence. Soon she will have recovered full and complete health and then I will disappear. But until then I shall continue to work."

The dispatch, said the Dictator, although modest, was willing to discuss every phase of his work and added that he said he was "Not moved by the fears of certain persons who see Madrid growing more and more like Chicago."

He was asked where modern trends of industrialism might lead peasant Spain and he answered: "We are a great agricultural country. Yes, I know that and lucky we are to be. So we shall continue. An agricultural country never dies of hunger and it always has the means to buy the produce of its neighbours. In that probably lies the formula for happiness."

"The great overpopulated cities do not promote the tranquillity of the masses; their inhabitants would be happier on the land. You see I am perfectly aware of where we are going and where we ought to go."

The dictator, according to the dispatch, has little sympathy for bull fights or prize fights. He recalled he had denied children under fourteen the right to attend them.

"As much football as they like," he said. "But children must not be given a taste for bloodshed. You see it is a soldier who is fighting against an immoderate taste for the spectacle of bloodshed." Associated Press.

CHRONICLES FROM JAPAN TO JAVA

The slogans of the local Kuomintang which were painted on the walls of the Chinese territory have not found favour in the sight of the Gendarmic Commissioner who has issued orders that they should be erased and that new slogans should be put up in their stead which are more complimentary to the central Kuomintang and to the present Government.

Fishermen in the Woosung and Taungming districts have complained to the authorities against the constant activities of the pirates, who they say, have been committing depredations both day and night. They say that these activities are due partly to the fact that the cruiser "Fu-hsi," which was placed on the station, has been taken back by the Government.

Rear-Admiral Palmer has been placed on the Retired List to date March 26, and Captain Geoffrey Hopwood, A.D.C., Admiral Palmer was in command of the aircraft-carrier "Argus" in China, and Rear-Admiral Hopwood was until recently in command of the aircraft-carrier "Hermes" in China and formerly had command of the "Diomedes" in China.

It may be remembered that recently arrangements were made to begin work on the scheme for the conservancy of the Haiho, and a loan of $4,000,000 was to be floated for the purpose, says the "N. C. Daily News." The regulations governing the issuance of the bonds were passed by the Executive Yuan about a month ago, but when they passed through the hands of the Legislative Yuan, the latter amended one of the regulations to read to the effect that only six of the leading Chinese banks should underwrite the bonds. This resulted in a joint letter from the foreign banks concerned, saying that they would not assist in the issuance of the loan. The Chinese banks, on the other hand, are displeased because of a reduction in the interest rate agreed upon. It was the original intention of the board to start conservancy work on April 1, but, says a report from Peking, this will be further delayed in view of the latest developments in connection with the loan.

PHOTOMATON

(Pho-Tom-ma-Ton—Please!)

The public of Hong Kong will shortly have an opportunity of seeing the very latest invention in AUTOMATIC PHOTOGRAPHY. Two PHOTOMATON machines are now being installed in a studio at No. 38 Queen's Road Central (opposite the Queen's Theatre). The opening date will be announced later through the Press.

For the small sum of 50 cents you will be able to obtain six DIFFERENT portraits, taken and delivered to you in EIGHT MINUTES. The procedure is quite simple. In exchange for 50 cents you will receive a token, and, having taken your seat in the PHOTOMATON cabinet, you drop the token in the slot.

The lights are thereby switched on and in sixteen seconds six different portraits are taken. During this time you are not, as usual, constrained to a mechanical stiffness of pose, but may move about, try this pose and that, laugh or look sad, talk and gesticulate. That is why PHOTOMATON photographs are not only works of art but character studies. They reveal not only your looks but your personality. They give you YOURSELF.

The fuss and bother usually associated with a visit to the photographers is entirely eliminated, and there is no tedious waiting for results.

Eight minutes after you have left the seat in the cabinet the PHOTOMATON machine will deliver to you six completed portraits—each one different and each one a natural likeness.

That is the reason why the PHOTOMATON method of photography has met with such a world-wide success.

place on Saturday and was largely attended.

NOT "AWARE"

U.S. AND RELATIONS WITH POPE

NO MOVE YET

Washington, May 14.
Many letters inquiring whether diplomatic relations are to be resumed between the United States and the Vatican are being received by the White House and the State Department from all sections of the country.In response to all of these letters and to those inquiring about the American Government's attitude in the event the present concordat between Italy and the Vatican, reorganising the sovereignty of the latter State, is ratified, the State Department sends a brief note informing the writers that the "question has not arisen."Following the policy of silence established by former Secretary of State Kellogg when the Italian-Vatican agreements were signed recently by Premier Mussolini and Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, the state department declines to discuss the American attitude on the question in any way. It was pointed out that the agreements have not been ratified and the matter could not be discussed until final action is taken by the papacy and the Italian Government.The American Government has received only the most highly informal information regarding the agreement and concordat between the Vatican and Italy. It is expected in some circles here that this Government will be officially informed of the recognition of Italy by the sovereignty of the Vatican after the agreements are ratified.In that case, it was pointed out, the United States would then be
"aware" of the existence of the Vatican State.

tical capital of Italy.Describing the relations between Church and State, the Premier said, "That there are two

A CHICAGO JUDGE

NOT STRONG FOR POETRY
IN COURT

Chicago, May 12.

Attorney Victor Frohlich is well versed in the poetry of motion.
He stood before Judge Joseph
Sabath as counsel for Mrs. Anna Barcal, seeking a divorce, and spoke as follows:"This motion, if your honour please."For alimony, and solicitor's fees;"The man is strong, the woman weak.""I think she should get 12 bucks a week."Judge Sabath enjoys a bit of poetry now and then, but in its proper place."Are you making light of this court?" he demanded.

"What do you mean your honour?"

"You just recited poetry," said
the judge, "and very bad poetry, too.""I did not realize it, your honour," said Mr. Frohlich. "It must have been the springlike weather, joining my well-meant words together. Let the record plainly show that I am not inclined to the making of verse, nor the recital thereof.""Very well," the court said. "I'll entertain your motion, though your motion did not entertain me."He continued the case so that Anton Barcal might engage an attorney—one who does not, Judge
Sabath emphasized, use poetry.—

PACIFIC FLIGHT

PLANS PREPARING IN
NEW YORK

COSTLY DIRIGIBLES

New York, May 10.

Extension of the proposed trans-Pacific dirigible airship mail and passenger service to Manila,
Shanghai, North China and Japan must await the development of a smooth running air-line between
San Francisco and Honolulu, Mr.
Paul W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Tyre & Rubber Co.,
and its subsidiary, the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, said to-day in a statement explaining the G-Z Corporation's plans for aerial services in the Pacific.Plans for the Pacific service are going forward, Mr. Litchfield said, but he warned the public not to expect too great a rapidity in the development of the services, which must be started one link at a time and which require extensive and very careful preparation.The G-Z dirigibles to be used on the Pacific routes will cost about $84,000,000 each, Mr.
Litchfield said, and will be equipped with a 600 horse-power motor on either side. They will have comfortable state rooms for passengers and will carry crews of about 50 men each.—United Press.Brig-Gen. Thomas H. Jackson, President of the Mississippi River Commission.

ALCOHOL EXPLOSION

RAZES $50,000-HOUSE IN HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, Calif., May 12.

An explosion which shook houses for more than a block and a fire which followed, to-night destroyed a large home in a canyon residential section. The house which was a pretentious one, was valued at $50,000. Police and firemen found a 250 gallon still, rent by the explosion and 65 five-gallon alcohol cans in the ruins. Two young men, who leased the house ten days ago,
were seen to leap into an automobile and speed away immediately after the blast.—Associated Press.

ENCOURAGING REPORT ABOUT CRAGADOUR TRAINING TO RESUME

London, Yesterday. An encouraging statement by Lawson, the trainer of Cragadour, says that a veterinary examination shows the colt to be suffering from indigestion. It is expected that he will resume strong work on Wednesday.—Reuter.

[The "Observer" on Sunday said: Cragadour went badly in a gallop at Manton yesterday and pulled up sore, being possibly a recurrence of last season's splint trouble. The prospect of his competing in the Derby is seriously discounted.]

SECOND DAY OF WHITSUN MEETING

EXCITING FINISHES

Yesterday was the second day of the Whitsun Holiday racing, and incidentally brought to a successful close the last "extra" meeting of the first half of the 1928-1929 racing season.

As on Saturday, excellent sport was provided. There were several exciting finishes, particularly in the Whitsun Plate and the May Plate events. The former event, which was the principal race of the afternoon, was won by One-Third who scored a fine win from the favourite, Christmas Chimes, catching the Judge's eye by a short head.

Dividends were not high as there were no big upsets—favourites or second favourites coming in. The biggest return on the tote was $46 paid on Young Pretender in the second race. The winning ticket in the big sweep for the principal race brought its holder the handsome sum of $2,612.40.

The most successful jockey was Mr. Harriman who secured three first places. Mr. Heard rode two winners, whilst Mr. da Rosa, Mr. Newbiggin and Mr. A. B. S. Clarke each had one first.

A pleasing programme of music was played by the Band of the Somerset Light Infantry, which was again in attendance.

A large gang of coolies resumed the work of demolishing the rest of the Jockey Club's buildings almost immediately after the last race. This is in connection with the Club's new construction scheme which has to be rushed through if the new structure is to be ready, as the Committee hope, for the resumption of racing in the early part of October.

Several new owners, it is expected, will be racing next season, and the new building scheme is being undertaken to make provision for better accommodation all round.

INTERESTING MATCHES

Straits Chinese to Meet Local Players

An unofficial Chinese lawn tennis Interport will take place this week on the Chinese R.C. ground at Causeway Bay. Khoo Hooi-hye, the Straits Chinese tennis star, is paying a visit to the Colony. Ong Ee-kong, another well-known Straits player, is also in the Colony and has consented to delay his departure for a few days in order that some Interport games may be played with local Chinese players.

Both Khoo Hooi-hye and Ong Ee-kong are fine players, the former having represented China in the Far Eastern games. They will be opposed by M. W. Lo, Ng Sze-kwong and Ho Ka-lau, the Club champion.

To-morrow

Singles: Ong Ee-kong v. M. W. Lo; Khoo Hooi-hye v. Ng Sze-kwong. The first match will commence at 4 p.m.

Thursday

Doubles: Ong and Khoo v. Ng Sze-kwong and M. W. Lo, to commence at 4.30.

Friday

Singles: Ong Ee-kong v. Ho Ka-lau and Khoo Hooi-hye v. M. W. Lo.

In order to defray expenses a charge of $1 for seats will be made.

GOLF

RESULTS OF WHITSUNTIDE MATCHES

The competitions at the Royal Hong Kong Golf Club's Whitsuntide Meeting at Fanling from Saturday to Monday, inclusive, resulted:—

Bogey Pool

Captain the Hon. W. Leveson Gower (10) 3 up (wins).

Other scores:—K. S. Robertson (6) 2 up; O. E. C. Marton (+1) 1 up; T. C. Monaghan (9), all square; A. H. Ferguson (2), all square. There were 34 entries.

Medal Round

O. E. C. Marton 74 + 1 = 75 (wins).

Other scores:—Capt. the Hon. W. Leveson Gower 83 — 10 = 73 (same card as for Bogey Pool).

T. C. Monaghan 85 — 9 = 76. E. D. Matthews 89 — 10 = 79. There were 11 entries.

The fourball foursomes were cancelled owing to insufficient entries.

ROWING

INTERNATIONALS IN THE ORIENT

"Neptune" writes in the "N. C. Daily News":

With the fast approach of the Shanghai Rowing Club's Spring and Interport Regatta, which is to take place at Henli during the Whitsuntide holidays, the Committee of the Club are busy with final pre-

Year		Winner	2 events

Owing to the inability of the Tientsin Rowing Club's Captain Mr. L. H. Kent, to accompany his men, the sculling event, in which he was to compete against F. Schweizer, has been dropped by mutual agreement, and the issue will be decided by competition in three events, viz: eights, fours and pairs. Any two wins by one Port will decide the honours in favour of that port, and in the event of a dead-heat in any race it will be rowed. Very little is lost by the dropping of the sculls event, since from the point of view of the spectators it is the least interesting of the races.

An Open Future

Prognostications as to who will win the Interport contest are hardly in order, since we have no first-hand knowledge of Tientsin's prowess.

One local man, a former oarsman himself, who has knowledge of Tientsin's ability this year, states that he favours Tientsin's chances. Report is to the effect that the Northern Port has concentrated on the Eights, and that they have received excellent coaching will stand them in good stead in this race.

Whilst we have little or no knowledge of our rivals, "Neptune" has had ample opportunity to gauge the qualifications of Shanghai's representatives and he is, to sum up, satisfied. Like Tientsin, Shanghai's representation in the Interport contest is limited to eight oarsmen, the fours and pairs being made up of men from out of the Eight crew. T. Jensen and L. F. Payne of Shanghai will be in all three boats, whilst G. S. McGill, of rugger repute, and A. W. Wagstaff will be in the Four. Of Tientsin's Eights crew, C. S. Morton, who is stroking that boat, is also stroking the Four and Pair. R. A. Wickerson will also be in all three boats, whilst H. Rothkel and H. Wolcken will also be rowing in the Four. So far as Shanghai is concerned, the fact that only eight men are to be called upon to row all three Interport events, is an indication that individually they are rated high. In parations for what should prove to be a bigger and better regatta than has been seen at Henli since the Interport Regatta of 1923. It will be remembered that in the autumn of that year Shanghai was visited by crews from Hong Kong and Tientsin, who participated in an Interport contest at Henli, the honours going to Shanghai.

In connection with the Interport contest at Henli against Tientsin, the following summary of past Interport meets may prove of interest:—

Loser		Where rowed.
Shanghai	2 events	2 events	Kobe
Yokohama	0	0	Kobe
Shanghai	0	0	Shanghai
Tientsin	1	0	Shanghai
Tientsin	0	0	Tientsin
Peking	0	0	Tientsin
Hong Kong	0	0	Hong Kong
Tientsin	0	0	Shanghai
Hong Kong	0	0	Shanghai
Shanghai	0	0	Kobe

combination, therefore, given they have been properly coached, they should prove formidable. Personally, I believe they are. The have been exceedingly fortunate in having the services of R. G. Woodhead as coach, and he has devoted a tremendous amount of time to whipping them into shape. At least it may be said that Shanghai will be well represented; that the best crews have been chosen, and that Tientsin will have to go all out to regain the honour which they lost to us in 1923.

Why Borotra Is Tennis Champion

Many things go to making up a champion and all of these things are found in the person of Jean Borotra, right. Jean's forehead grip, left, and his firm background, centre, are of the strongest type used by any player in the game. However, all of these grips would be of no avail if it were not for the keen, steady eyes, below centre, which enable him to keep his eye on the ball.

McDANIEL MURDER

POLICE IN MANILA HOPEFUL OF INQUIRIES

SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE

Manila, Friday.

The a.s. "President McKinley," of the Dollar Steamship Company, is sailing at 4 o'clock this afternoon most likely with the murderer of Allan McDaniel, remaining in the hands of Manila police.

This announcement was made yesterday at secret service headquarters.

To-day will witness the climax of the McDaniel murder, which has baffled the police of two countries. Until a few days ago, it remained a mystery, but developments occurring since the boat arrived in port last Monday have decidedly helped to solve it, police claim.

With sufficient evidence pointing to the real culprit already in the hands of the secret service, it only remains for the police to effect the arrest of the murderer.

"McKinley" officers were grilling by the secret service on board the ship yesterday morning. Dr. Wm. M. Wildman, chief surgeon of the boat, was among those questioned yesterday, it was learned. Leo P. Breyman, purser, was scheduled for more questioning, but he was not on board the ship at the time.

Trail of a Woman
It was stated at secret service headquarters, however, that the officers and members of the crew who are concerned will be called to headquarters for questioning this morning. This will be the last of the series of investigations made of the ship's officers and members on the trail of a woman who was said to be a Manila resident and to have been a passenger on the "McKinley" several months before the shooting. This clue, however, has apparently been dropped as the police could find nothing certain about the woman's identity.

It was learned yesterday that Fiscal Felix had taken up the investigation to check up on the findings of his two assistants.—"Manila Bulletin."

Arrest Expected
The trial of Representative M. Alfred Michaelson, Republican of Chicago, charged with violation of the liquor laws, was concluded this afternoon.

Congressman Michaelson said he was not aware that there was liquor in the trunks which he brought into Key West from Havana. Prohibition agents testified that they found a keg containing 13 bottles of liquor in the Congressman's baggage. They examined the trunk when they detected liquor dripping from it, and found the keg inside with one of the bottles broken.

The jury returned a verdict declaring Congressman Michaelson not guilty of violation of the prohibition laws.—United Press.

RUM INSPECTORS

CANADA'S OFFER TO U.S. MAY BE DECLINED

"NO BENEFIT"

Ottawa, May 14.

Although Canada has offered to permit the United States to station men on the Canadian side for the purpose of transmitting information with respect to the dispatch of liquor cargoes destined to the United States, the Dominion Government has not provided that these officers shall be placed on liquor export docks which are privately owned. No definite arrangements have been concluded between the two governments and it is understood that the Canadian offer has not yet been formally accepted by the United States.

At the recent conference between Canadian and United States representatives here, when the United States delegation urged the refusal of clearance papers to liquor cargoes going South, it was stated the system of transmitting information with respect to these liquor shipment was not working out well. No definite conclusion as to the request for refusal of clearances has yet been reached. It is understood.

Treasury department officials at Washington said that the offer by the Canadian Government to permit the American Government to station Customs inspectors on Canadian public docks would be declined, as had an identical offer during the anti-smuggling conference in Canada last winter.

The offer was declined at that conference, officials said, because this Government believed it could derive no benefit from stationing inspectors on the Canadian docks.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLVING CROSS-WORD PUZZLES

Start out by filling in the words of which you feel reasonably sure. These will give you a clue to other words crossing them, and they in turn will give you a clue to still others. A letter belongs in each white space, words starting in numbered squares and running either horizontally or vertically or both.

(The solution of the above cross-word puzzle will appear in to-morrow's issue along with a new cross-word puzzle.)

TO BAR FILIPINOS

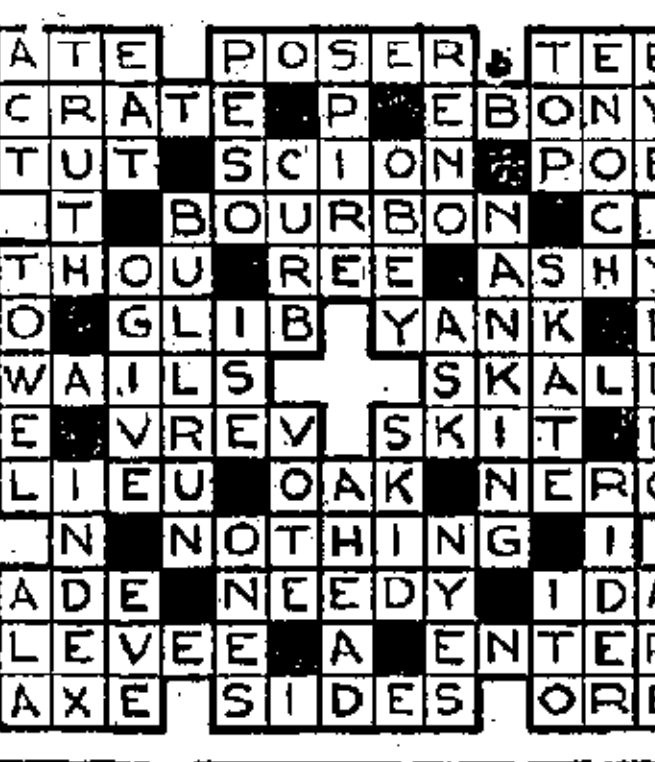

UNFAIR COMPETITION WITH AMERICANS

Sacramento, Calif., May 15. The State Senate, as one of its final acts before adjournment, today passed the Filipino exclusion resolution introduced by Assemblyman E. G. Adams. The measure already had been adopted by the Assembly.

The resolution memorializes congress to exclude Filipinos from the United States or at least to sharply restrict their immigration to this country. It asserts that unrestricted Filipino immigration causes unjust and unfair competition with American labour and that it nullifies the results to be expected from the national policy of restrictive immigration.

The Senate adopted the measure without debate.—Associated Press.

FREQUENCY OF ZEESEN

The German station, Zeesen, is working on a frequency of 182 kilohertz, which is separated by 10 kilohertz only from the frequency in use by Daventry 5XX, 192 kilohertz. Unless some form of directive aerial system is employed, such as a suitably designed frame aerial, it is not possible, in districts where there is no preponderating signal from 5XX, to render a set sufficiently selective to receive 5XX free from interference by Zeesen without seriously impairing the quality of reproduction.

A conference is to be held shortly at which the Governments of countries concerned will be represented in order to discuss the recommendations of the Union Internationale de Radiophonie concerning the allotment of these other channels and the degree of separation necessary between such channels. It can only be hoped, therefore, that an improvement may be looked for in the present situation.

B.B.C. REPLY TO COMPLAINTS

The B.B.C. is at the present moment engaged in pushing forward the regional scheme to the utmost of its ability, and it is hoped that conditions in Scotland will be immediately improved on the installation of the Regional Station for that country.

This statement is made in a comprehensive reply sent to Mr. E. J. Robertson, the hon. secretary of Edinburgh and District Radio Society, as a result of correspondence between the B.B.C. and the Society regarding the quality of Edinburgh station's transmissions.

The B.B.C. say:—In 1924 the British Broadcasting Company proposed the raising of the power of all main stations, and if permission had then been granted to go ahead the present situation would not have arisen. A legitimate stage in the development has been left out. We should have proceeded from high power main stations to the regional scheme. As it is, it has been thought advisable to go from a system of distribution which on its completion was nearly obsolescent, direct to some sort of basis of finality—namely, the regional scheme. B.B.C. is at the present moment engaged in pushing forward the regional scheme to the utmost of its ability.

INTERFERENCE AND FADING

With regard to the complaint that it is not possible to receive a Scottish programme in all parts of Scotland, including such places as the Orkneys and the Shetlands, the B.B.C. observe:—

This is an admitted fact. Under the prevailing reception conditions and with the present power and distribution of its stations, the Scot-

Has Made Good Progress Ever Since

Little Girl In Ceylon Improved Almost Out of Recognition by Baby's Own Tablets.

When little Rohine Subasinghe was 19 months old she was so backward and weakly that her parents and friends almost despaired. Then her uncle, Mr. Simon Perera, of 1 Stafford Gardens, Maradana, Colombo, advised treatment with Baby's Own Tablets, and this was given with wonderfully gratifying results, for, to quote Mr. Perera's own words:—"The child's constipation disappeared and her appetite increased, she put on weight and in a very short time was improved almost out of recognition. We are very thankful for her cure and think that Baby's Own Tablets should be in every home where there are children."

The facts of the above case were first published in the year 1924 when little Rohine was 3 years old. Now, 5 years later, she continues to make excellent progress in every way.

Sickly backward babies, and little ones who are troubled with their stomach or bowels, whose teething is painful, digestion bad, who have worms, are feverish, or cannot sleep well, should all be given Baby's Own Tablets, the guaranteed absolutely pure and safe remedy for children's use. Obtainable from chemists everywhere, or post free, 60 cents per vial, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60, Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

TALKING PICTURES

INVENTION SYNCHRONISES IN MINIATURE

OF ONE PATTERN

A demonstration was given in London of certain new methods of synchronising a home cinema with an ordinary gramophone so as to produce talking pictures in miniature. The devices used are the invention of Mr. G. V. Dowling, technical editor of "Modern Wireless and Popular Wireless," working in conjunction with Dr. G. H. T. Roberts. By means of an attachment which can be fitted to ordinary gramophones and home cinema projectors, and which costs about £5, it is possible to run specially made records and films in synchronism. The synchronising device in one pattern is mechanical and in another type electrical.

Arrangements are to be made whereby the corresponding films and records may be hired for about 2s. in the same way as ordinary home cinema films. The demonstration showed that an ordinary portable gramophone and a baby-cinema could be run quite satisfactorily together in this way.

An extension of the use of similar technical devices is that of the Radioscope, by means of which the "talkie" part of the dual reproduction may be received by wireless. If, for example, the gramophone record were run in a B.B.C. studio the home gramophone could be dispensed with and an ordinary wireless receiver used instead. At a given signal from the announcer the home cinema would be started, and it is stated that by the methods employed exact synchronism could be maintained.

Wires Transmitted

By special arrangement, officials of the British Broadcasting Corporation, including the chief engineer, Captain P. P. Eckersley, attended a demonstration of the Radioscope recently. A small home cinema machine was operated in the City whilst the voices, instrumental music, &c., were transmitted from a studio some miles distant, and were received in exact synchronism with the pictures. The effect was so striking and the demonstration so successful that the question of including Radioscope transmissions in the B.B.C. programmes was forthwith placed under official consideration.—"Times."

fish main stations, viz. Glasgow and Aberdeen, cannot normally provide a service outside a radius of approximately 25 to 35 miles from the transmitter; with regard to the relaying stations, the service range in 3 to 5 miles in the case of Dundee, and rather more in the case of Edinburgh. The service area of a station is the area in which a transmission can be regularly received by night as well as by day, reasonably free from heterodyne fading and other forms of interference.

Other points are explained in the following extracts:—

In Scotland it is necessary to employ at least one stage of high frequency amplification if Daventry 5XX is to be receivable at loud speaker strength. We appreciate that his apparatus is beyond the means of many, both as regards its initial cost and upkeep. In the case of a long wave station, such as 5XX, fading will become noticeable at extreme ranges and seems to be accentuated in mountainous districts. There are, as yet, no practical means known to wireless engineers whereby such fading can be overcome.

Fire and Attempt on Governor's Life

The origin of the fire which ravaged the $100,000 Tarrytown, N. Y., residence of C. B. Dall and Mrs. Dall (left inset) still remains a deep mystery. Police are working hard on the case in an effort to discover who the incendiary was, and possibly to connect this incident with that of the bomb which was discovered by a postoffice employee, enclosed in a candy box, and addressed to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt (upper right), father-in-law of Dall.

EXPERTS "TIRED BUT SMILING"

A DECISION?

REPARATIONS AGREEMENT PRACTICALLY REACHED

AMERICA'S GESTURE

Paris, Yesterday.
The reparations experts, tired but smiling, emerged from the longest sitting of their Conference.
They have practically reached an agreement regarding the German reparations and distribution of reparations among the creditors.
Simultaneously, the American Embassy announced its Government's readiness to reduce the American claim for Army occupation expenses by 10 per cent.—Reuter.

Washington's Part

Washington, Yesterday.
Pres. Hoover conferred with the Cabinet and leaders of both parties of the two Houses of Congress regarding the report expected from the Reparations Experts Committee in Paris.

The "Herald Tribune" says that Pres. Hoover is hoping to smooth the way towards a settlement and the possibility is envisaged by a reduction in the claims for arrears on account of the American occupation amounting to $31,000,000 and corresponding in its percentage of 10 per cent. to similar British and French sacrifices.—Reuter's American Service.

"PREPAREDNESS"

GRAVE HAPPENINGS IMMINENT IN INDIA

VICEROY GUARDED

London, Yesterday.
The "Daily Mail's" correspondent at Calcutta says that most stringent precautions are being taken to guard the Viceroy, provincial Governors, high officers, and public buildings.
It is rumored that troops are being secretly moved to Northern India.

There have been five outbreaks of fire at the Railway workshops in Lahore during the last three weeks. The Police hold evidence of the imminence of grave happenings, necessitating preparedness.—Reuter.

EX-PRES. CALLES

RESIGNS FROM THE WAR MINISTRY

TO ENGAGE IN FARMING

New Mexico, Yesterday.
Ex-President Calles has resigned from the Mexican Ministry of War, and is retiring to the country to engage in farming.—Reuter's American Service.

A carboy containing ether exploded in a large pharmaceutical store in Brussels and destroyed 25ft of the shop frontage.

A bronze bust of Robert Owen, the great British social reformer, was unveiled in the library of the International Labour Office, Geneva. It was presented by the Welsh section of the League of Nations Union.

EXTRALITY

SHANGHAI TRADE BODIES FIGHT CHINESE

CHAMBERS OPPOSE MOVE

Shanghai, May 13.

The foreign Chambers of Commerce of Shanghai, led by the American and British Chambers, are making plans to resist the Chinese intention to abolish extraterritoriality.

All the leading foreign Chambers here held a meeting under the auspices of the British Chamber to-day, wherein resolutions were passed stating that any intention of the powers to relinquish extraterritoriality at this time is premature.

Following this meeting of the combined Chambers a resolution was referred back to the individual Chambers which will cable their various foreign Governments urging that no action be taken.

It is also reported that foreign commercial organisations are sponsoring a movement to send delegates abroad, especially to Washington and London, in order to use personal arguments in American and British officialdom against any relinquishment of extraterritoriality at the present time.—"Chicago Tribune."

YUNNAN & BURMA

COMMITTEE NOW TO EXAMINE ALLEGED ENCROACHMENTS

Nanking, May 12.

A committee of investigation into the present state of border relations between Yunnan and Burma will shortly be organized by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. The committee, it is learned, will be entrusted with the task of examining into the reported British incursion into Yunnan territory and to consider and study the evidence gathered by the Yunnan Provincial Authorities so that the matter may be brought to the attention of the British Government for settlement.—Kuo Min.

CANADA AND JAPAN

LEGATION TO BE OPENED AT TOKYO NEXT WEEK

Tokyo, Yesterday.

Although Mr. Marler, Canada's first Minister to Japan, is not expected until October, Mr. Hugh Keenleyside has arrived to take up the post of First Secretary to the Legation, which is to be opened next week.—Reuter.

Professor Bergeron, a Norwegian meteorologist, has been spending six months in the Mediterranean, studying climatic conditions on behalf of the British Meteorological Office.

SPAIN'S "REVOLT OF YOUTH"

KING TAKES ACTION

DECREE SIGNED RE-OPENING THE UNIVERSITIES

INTELLECTUALS' MAY APPEAL

Barcelona, Yesterday.

King Alphonso has signed a decree authorising the reopening of the universities, since the closing of which in March there has been growing discontent, epitomised as the "Revolt of Youth," with the possibility of appeal by the "Intellectuals" to the League of Nations.—Reuter.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES

ARE THEY DOING THEIR JOB

OPPORTUNITIES LOST

"Are libraries doing their job?"

was the question Mr. C. R. Sanderson, librarian of the National Liberal Club, set out to answer at a meeting of librarians held at the London School of Economics. The answer was disappointing. Mr. Sanderson is not satisfied with what the libraries up and down the country are doing for the children.

"If we are not doing our best for the children, if we starve them mentally," he said, "We are guilty of callous and criminal neglect. As librarians, we are in a position to say to them, 'Come to us for your reading,' but taking the country broadly, what do they get? A few fawcettian tricks with books and a certain amount of shop-window dressing. Are those libraries doing their job?"

For the specialist reader, Mr. Sanderson said, almost anything could be obtained in London, but the average student who was trying to make his way through a special subject, had a great struggle to secure the text books he needed. Two or three shelves of books would suffice for the average student studying for a university degree, but the urgent need for those shelves was in danger of being forgotten by the libraries in their craze for special stuff. By failing to make the fullest provision for the average student, the libraries were losing their opportunity and increasing the difficulty of his task.

Thoughts on the War

Then Mr. Sanderson spoke of the change of thought in regard to such subjects as the Great War. Documents available since the war had proved that we did not go to war for a "scrap of paper," and that the idea of the Germans as a nation whose brutality could be illustrated by stories about corpse factories was false. The popular mind must be swung over to take an entirely different standpoint from that of 1914. Were the libraries helping the facts?

Commercial and technical libraries could contribute enormously to the efficiency of our times, but it was also the function of a library to liberate the intelligence of the man in the street.

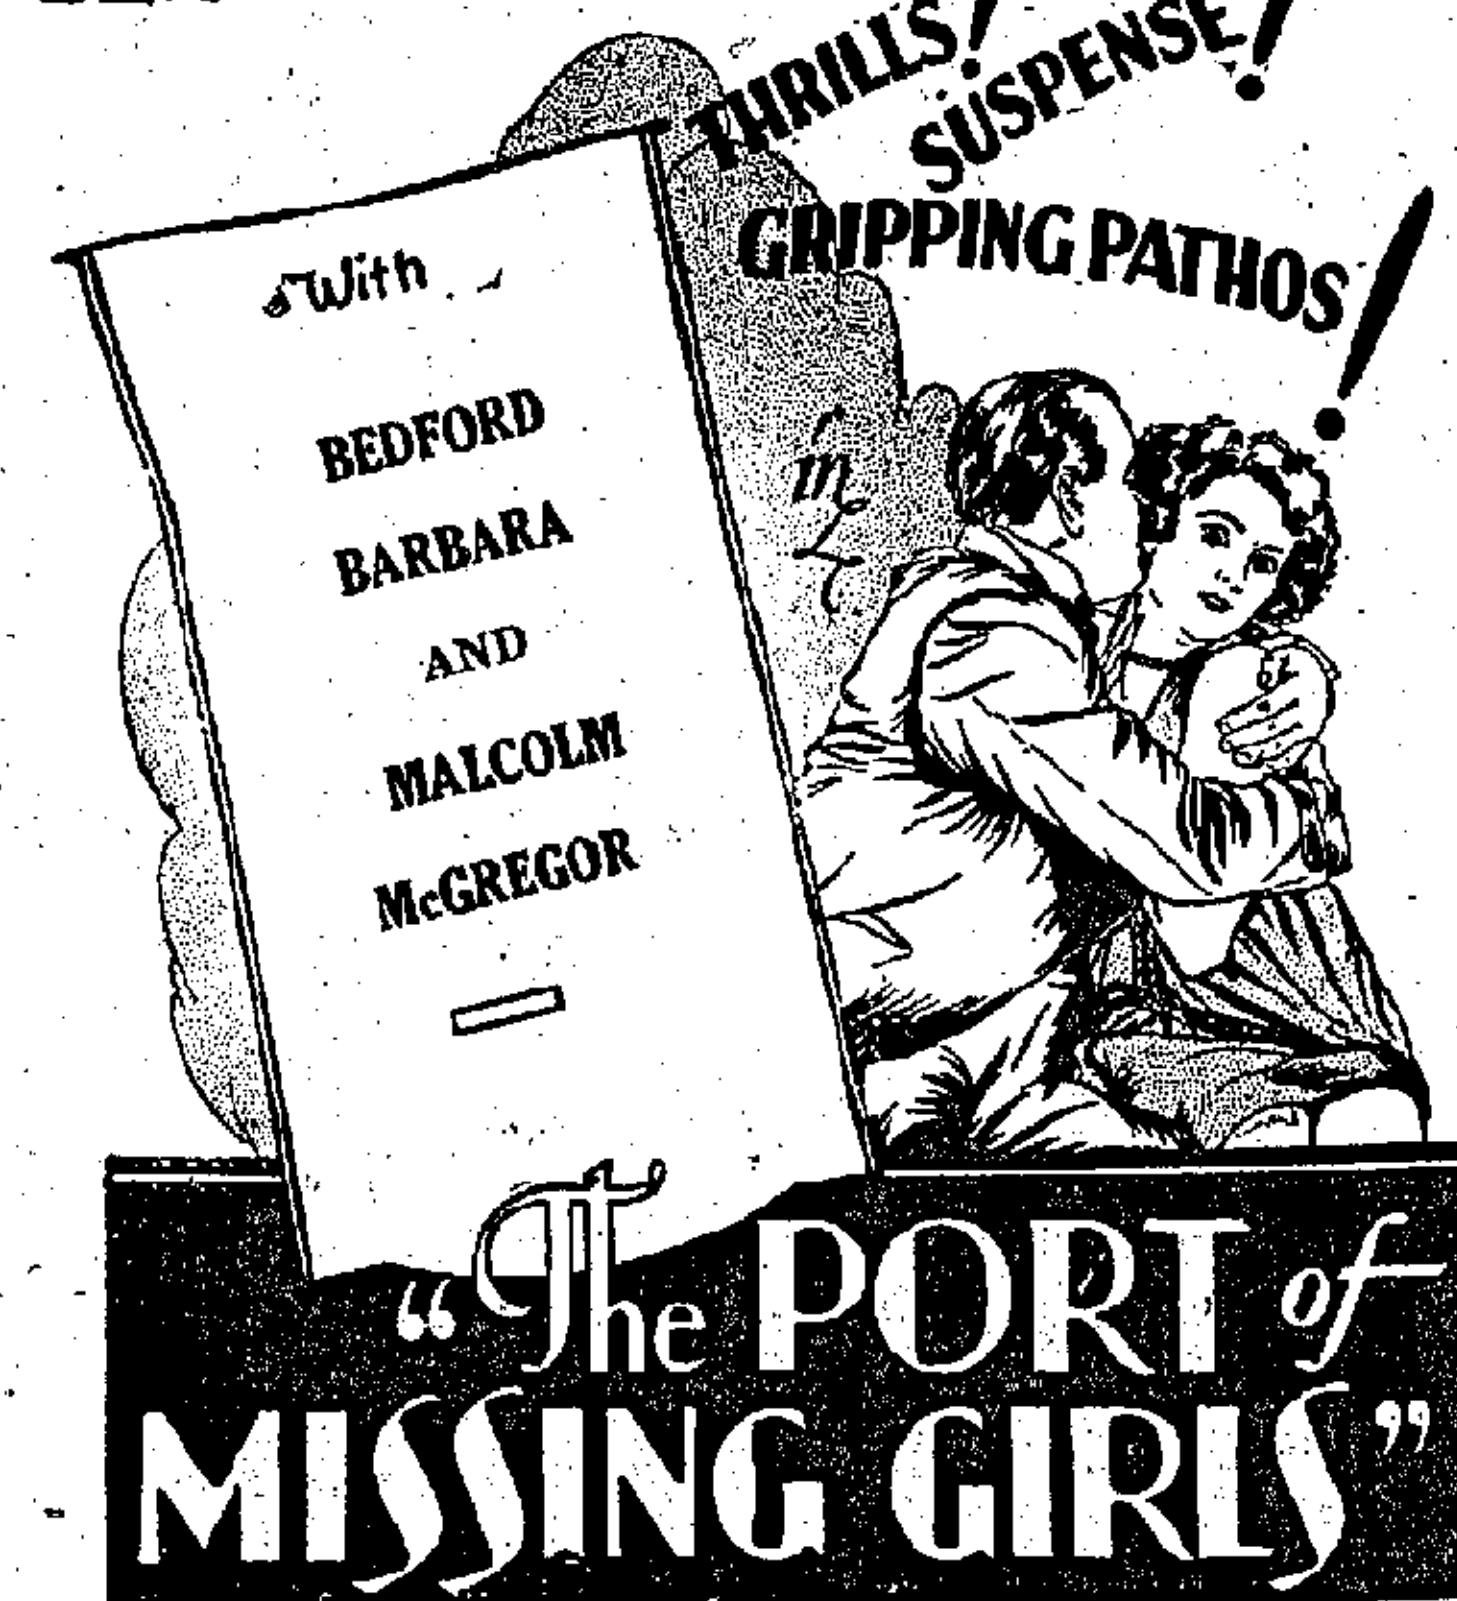

"This is a restless, dissatisfied age," Mr. Sanderson said, "but progress always comes after a period of dissatisfaction, and our job is not merely to take the best out of what is offered to us, but to go out and look for the great and then exploit it. I don't care what it is—prose, poetry, drama. Undertones of War," or Eugene O'Neill's work. How many libraries are circulating O'Neill's "Hairy Ape"? Because it uses the words 'Christ' and 'bloody,' it has been put out of library after library."

Mr. Sanderson's point was that when a man was arriving at a solution of very difficult problems, he only reached it by reading about hundreds of things that were miles away from his problem. His mind needed the stimulus that came from contact with sincere and living minds, working on their own problems of life.

The speaker did not wish to discuss the censorship, but he suggested that the Library Association should have a definite opinion about it. They should not shrink it because of its difficulty. Were they facing up to other problems? Were they writing on prejudices or on ideals? "When I ask, 'Are the libraries doing their job?'" Mr. Sanderson concluded, "I mean also, 'Are the librarians doing their job?'"

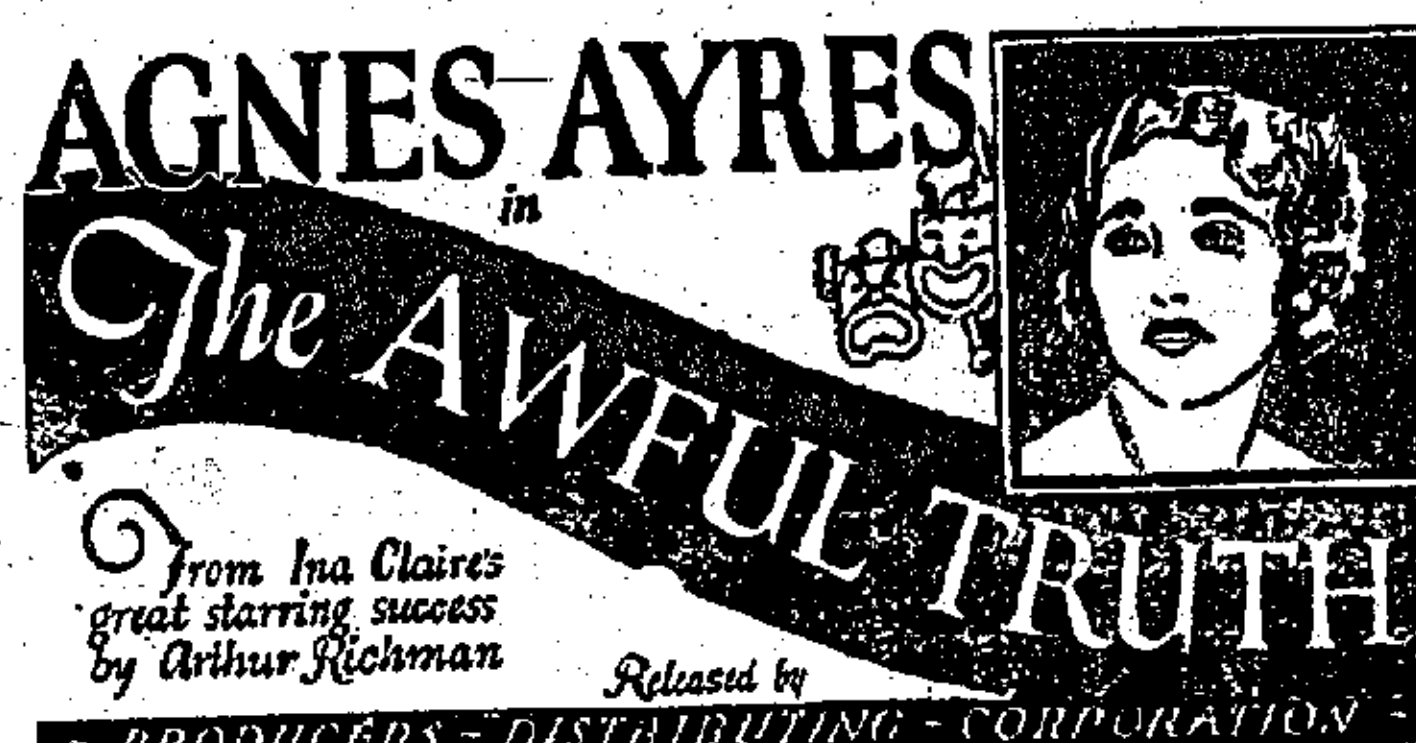

A sensational story of modern life told without fear by a brilliant cast of players.
